ROMAN PARMA, 90 DIES HERE THURSDAY

Roman Parma, 90, pioneer and for almost 60 years a resident of Milam county, died at 6:40 p. m. Thursday, June 17, 1943 at his home in Cameron.

Mr. Parma, due to his advanced age, was in poor state of health and during the past few days had been losing strength rapidly.

Funeral services were held at 4 p. m. Friday, June 18, 1943, from the family residence with Rev. Geo. J. Duda, Pastor of St. Monica's Catholic Church, conducting the services with interment in the Catholic cemetery in Cameron.

Mr. Parma, father of three well known Cameron business men, was born in Prague in Czechoslovakia on July 20, 1853. At the time of his birth Prague was in Bohemia which was a part of the Austro-Hungarian empire.

Life many of the sturdy pioneers he turned his face westward and came to America when he was 19 years of age, landing in Texas. He was married to Miss Mary Hilser in Fayette county. He had been a resident of Milam county for almost 50 years. He retired about 30 years ago from his farm and moved to the city.

In 1935 Mrs. Parma died and since that time he had lived at the family home with the care and attention of his children.

Surviving are four sons as follows: George Parma of San Antonio, J. T. Parma of Cameron, Joe J. Parma of Cameron and W. J. Parma of Cameron; two daughters, Mrs. J. L. Marek and Mrs. D. J. Kubecka of Cameron.

LOCKER STORAGE NOW CONSIDERED LIKELY

A locker storage plant for Cameron was considered likely resulting from action taken by the Chamber of Commerce asking the War Production Board for priorities on equipment.

The locker storage system has been used to great advantage in many sections of the country. It is regarded as the best possible means of preserving and curing food, especially meats.

Such a plant in Cameron would be a big boost for the food program which began here several years ago with poultry.

Milam county is second among Texas counties in the production of eggs and second in the number of beef cattle under feed.

Mrs. Fred Graves and son of Dallas are visiting the J. C. Burke and Preston Graves families in Cameron.

MRS. ANNA D. ZELISKO KILLED IN CAR WRECK

Mrs. Anna D. Zelisko, 56, was killed at 9:30 Wednesday morning when her car was overturned on Highway 196 near Pettibone.

Mrs. Zelisko lives in Cameron and was believed to have been on her way to Buckholts, her former home.

Early Wednesday morning Mrs. Zelisko went to the Grabein Chevrolet Company here and got her car. It had been freshly painted and she wrote a check for the amount of the bill and said she was going to Buckholts.

Womack Brashear, Justice of Peace, held an inquest and so far as known there were no witnesses to the accident. The body was lying on the grass at the roadside not far from the overturned car.

The highway where the accident occurred was a smooth stretch of road and Justice Brashear said after examination of the wreckage that a front tire on the car may have blown out.

Mrs. Zelisko's neck was broken as the car overturned her head was caught between the door at the driver's seat and the body of the car.

Funeral services will be held at 4 p. m. from the residence in Cameron with services at the Lutheran church in Buckholts. Rev. A. E. Flathmann, pastor, will conduct the services.

Mrs. Zelisko was the former Miss Anna Fuchs, daughter of the late L. J. Fuchs, pioneer of the Buckholts community.

5 NIGGERS AND ONE POLICEMAN ARE SLAIN

Six were dead at noon Monday in Detroit, war industry center, following a riot which started from a false rumor.

The dead were listed as 5 niggers and one policeman, a white man.

The rioting started when a rumor was spread that a negro woman and her child had been killed. The niggers started the fight.

In the resulting fight some 30 people were in hospitals and about 200 were injured.

Negroes make up about 10 per cent of the population of the country and hold 7 per cent of the jobs in war plants, a figure all out of proportion to their number in the country.

Order had been restored as some 3500 policemen were mobilized and troops stood outside the Detroit area ready to march in.

It was the second serious outbreak of racial trouble within the week, one in Texas and the other in Michigan. The Texas riot followed attacks upon white women by niggers. In Michigan the fight started because of a false rumor that a negro woman and her child had been slain. Axis agents were credited with the rumor.

"Yank At Eaton" Another Triumph For Mickey Rooney

Mickey Rooney proves again why he is Hollywood's number one star in "A Yank at Eaton." The new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film opens at the Cameron Theatre Thursday.

As a typical American boy in England's most exclusive school, Mickey has some of the most hilarious scenes of his career, and some of the most dramatic. He plays American football and English cricket. He runs a steeplechase. He leads twelve little Eaton boys in a slapstick brawl with four husky waiters of a roadside inn. And he licks the Eaton bully.

In short, there isn't much that Mickey doesn't do.

Action Gets Into Full Swing

After a few preliminary events in America and a shipboard romance with cute, red-haired Tina Thayer, the action really gets into full swing when Mickey arrives in England and is enrolled at Eaton.

Resolved to dislike his new surroundings, he gets into one scrape after another. Then, when Freddie Bartholomew, as his English stepbrother, is suspected of stealing the housemaster's cap and wrecking it, Mickey "takes the rap" and is "sacked."

But, when he learns that Freddie isn't guilty, he sets out to prove his own innocence. He does it, too, just in the nick of time, to be reinstated and run in the big steeplechase, which he wins from the school bully.

While Mickey is his usual brilliant self as "The Yank," Freddie Bartholomew, playing in his fifth picture with Rooney, also is outstanding. Now a full head taller than Mickey, he is hard to recognize as the little boy who once starred in "David Copperfield."

Agricultural Work Problem Solved Here; One 8 Year Old Boy Signs For Farm Work; Idleness To Continue As Farmers Enveloped By Weeds

Cameron had succeeded Tuesday in solving the vital farm labor shortage in this area.

Two weeks ago the Department of Agriculture through local channels called upon newspapers to give wide publicity to the campaign to sign up idle people in the cities for farm work this summer.

An especial appeal was made to students, strong young men who are out of the class rooms for the summer. The Chamber of Commerce, desiring to co-operate, brought in a news item stating that its offices would be given over to accommodate the influx of patriots who would shuffle off to the fields every morning to get the farmers out of the grass and to produce food for our increasing army of aliens.

A check up by The Daily Herald Tuesday revealed that one 8 year old

Cameron Born Newton Baird, 26, Called "Texas Bad Man" As He Is Taken By Rochester, Minn. Detectives; Well Known To Many People Here

This story of Newton Baird, born in Cameron, has just reached The Herald through Jeff Cammer. The story was published in a recent issue of a Rochester, Minn., newspaper, clipping and sent here by Mrs. J. C. Howerton, formerly Miss Osborne.

The wild career of a modern-Texas bad man appeared to have been halted today with arrest of Newton Perry (Cowboy) Baird, 26, Cameron, Texas, by two Rochester, Minn., detectives as he walked unarmed down the street in that city, clad in ten-gallon hat, high-heeled boots and cowboy regalia.

Baird, a ranch-hand, rider and bulldozer for such western rodeo shows as those of Gene Autry, Roy Rogers and Tex Ritter, all movie horse opera stars, has been sought by the FBI since he twice escaped the law after having "the book" thrown at him by Texas courts.

Today a complaint was filed against him in federal district court in St. Paul charging him with theft of a car from a deputy sheriff in Crystal City, Texas, and transporting it to Rochester in violation of the Dyer act.

In the car was found a fully loaded .45 Colt automatic pistol.

Baird was characterized by M. B. Rhodes, agent in charge of the FBI offices in St. Paul, as a very dangerous hombre.

He was charged in a complaint filed with the United States commissioner in Waco, Texas, in September, 1941, with violation of the motor vehicle theft act in taking a stolen car from Alexandria, La., to Waco. He was arrested on Feb. 27, 1942, at Corpus Christi, Texas, in a car stolen in Hope, Ark., and tried in Texas courts.

He was given, to run concurrently, sentences of 10 years for assault with intent to commit murder; two years for theft of an automobile; 10 years for burglary; 5 years for theft by bailie; two sentences of 2 to 5 years for theft, and two sentences of 2 to 10 years for cattle theft.

On June 23, 1942, he broke the Live Oak county jail in George West, Texas, with two other men, who later were apprehended.

On May 17, this year, he was arrested again in Wyoming. He escaped officers, however, and stole a car at Glendo, Wyo.

He sought supplies at a ranch where he had formerly been employed, and opened fire on ranchers who sought to stop him.

While being trailed by a posse on May 18, he twice stole horses. On May 19, he stole another car and made good his escape.

NEWTON BAIRD JUMPS FROM WINDOW OF TRAIN

Newton Perry (Pete) Baird, 26, the nation's current No. 1 bad man, escaped from a Minnesota deputy United States Marshal and another armed guard by jumping out of a train window near Royce City, Rockwall County, Tuesday afternoon.

Scores of officers from Dallas, Rockwall, Collin and Tarrant counties aided by bloodhounds, searched the countryside all afternoon and into the night.

First word of the escape came when Deputy Marshal James H. Littell, Minneapolis telephoned Chief Deputy Sheriff Bill Decker from Garland that Baird had got away.

Decker immediately notified the city police for a radio broadcast and called the Sheriff's office at Rockwall and McKinney, as well as not flying state police and Highland Park and University Park police departments.

All available Dallas County deputy sheriffs were sent to Royce City, after picking up Littell and the Garland Katy Railroad station, where they left the train after the escape.

Jumps Through Window

Littell told Decker his prisoner got away by jumping out of the window of a drawing room of a Missouri-Kansas-Texas train bound for Dallas. No other details of the escape were given. It was not known here whether Baird was able to arm himself in escaping.

United States Marshal Red Wright took bloodhounds from Fort Worth, joining a pack of bloodhounds first on the scene taken to Royce City by Sheriff Earl Button of Collin county. Deputy Marshal Rufus Pevehouse joined deputy marshals from Fort Worth in the man-hunt.

Baird was being taken to San Antonio to face a Dyer act charge. He was captured June 1 at Rochester, (turn to page four)

7 ARE ARRESTED IN MUNITIONS FACTORY

J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, announced Tuesday that 7 workers in a munitions plant in the middle east had been arrested for fake loading of grenades.

The men had failed to place charges in the grenades so when thrown at the enemy they would not explode.

The President of the company, an Italian, said the men had been instructed to load the shells only when government men were looking on. This statement was denounced.

It was not known whether the men are union workers but presumed to be as all functions of the war effort is unionized. A reprimand, not strong enough to offend labor, was expected.

Legion to Complete Cigarette Fund Drive Here On Monday

Legion Commander Jim McGoldrick said Saturday that the local Post would close out its cigarette fund drive Monday.

Members of the post or as many as may be necessary will make a canvas of the business district and take subscriptions to the fund now only about $100 necessary to complete.

Commander McGoldrick said the Lions Club had discussed sponsoring a cigarette fund but had decided not to do so at this time. All organizations who will are urged to contribute to the Legion fund.

These cigarettes are sent direct to Cameron and Milam county boys as well as others in the service. Nothing would be more desirable now and this final appeal is made to YOU to help out in this drive to be closed Monday when the men of World 1 work for men in World War 2. The boys who fought in 1917 and 1918 know what it means to get cigarettes from home.

ROOSEVELT IS ASKED TO BACK LABOR BOARD

Chairman Davis of the War Labor Board, went to the White House Tuesday with a letter from the board asking the President to back up the board in its refusal to meet miners demand for a wage increase.

The President has not indicated what he will do, if anything.

Ickes and John L. Lewis met Tuesday morning. They will no doubt meet again. Meetings breed compromises and the public pays the bill.

President Roosevelt has until Friday to veto the anti-strike bill on his desk. He is expected to disprove the measure based upon his record and help of organized labor.

Commentators in Washington suggested that something might be done about the strike in 48 hours. Until all the political possibilities are fully exploited, and miners may go back without a contract, provided Lewis orders them back. Another strike would come in 30 days.

Japs Say Zoot Suit Men Strong; Science Also Has Definition

New York, June 18.—Japanese propagandists have their own explanation for recent American "zoot suit" incidents.

In a Tokyo broadcast reported to the Office of War Information a Japanese commetator declared:

"The American zoot-suiters are isolationists and antiwar fighters. They are strong, courageous young men who have banded together into a nation-wide army to express by physical force their disapproval of the war."

Thus far no one has successfully accounted for the origin of the zoot suit. Its development has come along in the new deal miasma of moral malador, but those who wear them may have a counter part in evolution for science has something to say about zoot and zooting.

Zoospore is a botanic derivative and of many algae capable of independent motion, usually having vibratile cilia and sometimes swarms. This may have something to do with the molecule miocenis of the zooter.

Zootechny is a science which may yet shed light on this new specimen.

It is a branch of science that deals with the breeding and domestication of the lower animals. Well, there too is the zootheism theory, or zoomorphic theism, and when reduced to after dinner talk means to ascribe divine attributes to animals. This may have something to do with the fact that zoot suiters finally got up on two legs and now get duck bill hair cuts.

A zootomist is a policeman who beats hell out of a zoot suited nigger who is a vagrant in war times. Zootomy is a branch of anatomical science which relates to the structure of the lower animals.

All of this leaves the zoot suit without definition. The zooter too is not adequately explained but belongs to this age and generation. The Japs think they can use him and may have already done so.

Gabes Is Rich Oasis That Stands in Tunisian Desert

Gabes, Tunisian port bagged by the British in their chase of Rommel, is a way station on many routes from the Algerian to the Libyan coast.

The town, a community of 20,000 people, is midway on the 450-mile coast road from Bizerte and Tunis to Tripoli. It is the eastern terminus of the Morocco-Algeria-Tunisia rail network. A 700-mile chain of chotts northwest of the town makes a natural highway. The chotts are shallow lakes from December to April each year. The rest of the year they are hard-surfaced dry salt flats like those of Utah where automobile speed records have been made.

Three oases at Gabes—the only ones in North Africa directly on the coast—yield abundant water. These waters create an island of greenery in the waste of the desert, an area covered with 200,000 palm trees, vineyards, olive and citrus groves and fertile gardens. Dates were the chief export of Gabes. Menzel and Djara are village suburbs of the port.

The drainage from the oases flows into Gabes bay, the deepest dent in the Tunisian coast. Even light-draft harbor boats have difficulty in the shallow channel leading to the town's wharf. Cargoes and passengers must be lightered to and from larger vessels anchored a mile offshore in the

Zoot Suiter From Bryan Shorn of Plume and Disheveled by City Marshal Lunsford May Not Like Reception He Got Here Tuesday Afternoon

City Marshal Dan Lunsford has won the first round in the zoot suit controversy here.

It happened Tuesday when a Bryan nigger came in on a bus as zooty as any of the duck bills who were stripped and beaten by irate sailors in Los Angeles.

On the night before Marshal Lunsford had placed three Zootniggers from Temple in the jail here, filing vagrancy charges against them. Each had a long knife, known to peace officers as the "east Dallas special." The Herald learned Thursday the negroes were released by the corporation court without fines.

The Bryan nigger, seen at a distance by the marshal as he plumped off the afternoon bus, was intercepted on a vacant lot in the northwest business district. When asked by the marshal about his business here and his address the nigger gave an evasive and somewhat sassy answer.

What happened thereafter should go down in zootechny and qualify the marshal as a first rate zootomist.

The nigger's feet went up in the air from a hard knuckle blow and as he bounced back into zoopsia a bashing clop from the well known Texas 44 caught the zooter midway the wool dome. The zoot plume on the lifting hat was cut in two. Shorn of his plumage the zooter took a well administered clouting and was seen leveling off at something like 90 miles per hour with the admonition that Cameron will tolerate no zooter gangs.

The Temple niggers were arrested on vagrancy charge. The Marshal says he will not tolerate vagrancy during war times as everybody should work. The law prohibits enforced labor as the marshal points out, but vagrancy is another matter.

Zoot suited niggers have become a menace in Houston. A Cameron man whose name is withheld, stepped off a bus the other day in Houston and was met by a zoot suited nigger who claimed the Cameron man had defrauded him of money in a poker game. The nigger asked the white man to step around the corner to see the boss. In a moment or two there were four other zoot suited niggers, all with long knives. The Cameron man escaped and as he ran across the street a policeman came into view and tried to get the niggers but all escaped.

City Marshal Lunsford says that in a number of places the zoot suited niggers are members of robber gangs, well organized and are preying upon the people. He's going to keep the zooters out of Cameron.

James Ray Dodson to Return On Furlough

James Ray Dodson, United States Navy, will soon reach Cameron on his first leave from the service since he entered more than a year ago.

James Ray is the son of J. R. Dodson of Cameron. He volunteered for the service and after completing his training was assigned to sea duty and spent some time on a destroyer in the South Pacific fighting the Japs. He later transferred to the submarine service and has been aboard one of the navy's famous undersea craft with a long record of combat service in the Pacific.

In a letter to his father here this week, James Ray said he would reach home in about 30 days.

A delightful occasion was Friday evening when Miss Lillian Atkinson was hostess to the Business & Professional Women's Club, on her attractive side lawn at her home on North Central street.

One of the prettiest summer gardens in Cameron is Miss Atkinson's with its closed in shrubery fence with beautiful growing flowers and green lawn. Attractive tables and pedestal baskets of flowers added to the scenery. A large decorated table was laid with all accessories for a most delightful dinner was served in cafeteria style with ice tea.

Mrs. L. Van Perkins, president of the club, presided over a short business session at which time Mrs. Katherine K. Robbins was elected president of the club for the new year.

The club was delighted to have with them a member who had been ill for several months, Mrs. Cora Cammer, who is recovering from a long time illness.

Guests beside members of the club were: Mrs. Emma Butts, Mrs. Wilma Ramsouer, Mrs. Violetta Thompson.

Italians Keep American Prisoners in Mountains

Mountain vistas, sunny climate and starchy diet are likely to be the lot of Americans captured in Tunisian fighting and transferred to a new prison camp at Chieti, Italy. British sources report that prisoners are well treated in this camp, 100 miles northeast across the boot from Rome.

Chieti is surrounded by mountains on all but its east side. Eastward from its 1,100-foot elevation are seven miles of fertile slope to the Adriatic sea. Thirty miles northwest of Chieti, dim on the horizon beyond the Majella ridge, looms a 9,560-foot peak, the snow-capped Gran Sasso, highest of the Apennines.

A three-mile electric rail branch links the city with a main line reaching Rome and other Italian cities. The surrounding region was a popular peacetime vacation spot.

The city is capital of Chieti province. It was capital of the whole scenic and historic Abruzzi region in the days of Norman rule, and was the seat of the religious order of Theatine Monks. Tourists were fascinated by its venerable churches and church relics. Its public art gallery has a fine collection of majolica ware. Held and developed for centuries by the Greeks, it contains the remains of an ancient Greek theater and large reservoirs.

Fix Plows

Plow and harrow are two tools that must be repaired or adjusted for early spring tillage. Walking and sulky plows that do not do their work well may have sprung a beam, or the adjustment of the clevis may have been wrong. Tractor plows are more difficult to check for sprung parts, which usually cause the plow to run "cornerwise," to wear one point faster than another or to wear the landslide or the rear wheel. Usually the tractor plow with the sprung part turns the clean furrow and throws the correctly adjusted plow out of line. The spring-tooth harrow is easy to keep in good condition if the worn parts are replaced each year. Runners should be replaced if they are worn, so that the frame will be protected. All the teeth should be set evenly, for good work, and the levers should be adjusted to work easily. The frame may also be sprung out of shape.

Could Smell Japs

U. S. marines frequently detected the whereabouts of Japs through their sense of smell during jungle fights on Guadalcanal, according to Master Technical Sergeant James Hurlbut, marine corps combat correspondent who has returned to the United States after spending four and a half months on the South Pacific island.

"The Japs have a distinctive smell, a rather musty odor—something like skunk cabbage," reports Sergeant Hurlbut. "Scouting parties on Guadalcanal often reported smelling the Japanese long before they ever saw or heard them."

In a talk to marines, Sergeant Hurlbut told of replacing his blankets, lost during the initial landing operations, with a pair of Jap blankets. "They smelled for two months," reports the Leatherneck correspondent.

Inflammation of Udder

Also known as "garget" or "caked udder," mastitis is an inflammation of the udder which may reduce milk flow and ultimately destroy the functional tissue of the udder. It is caused by bacteria which enter the udder through the teat canal and may be either acute (2 per cent of the cases) or chronic (98 per cent). Few herds escape the chronic form which is mild but persistent, causing a gradual hardening of the udder and loss of one or more quarters. Small clots appear in the milk, and, in advanced cases, may cause it to become bloody or stringy.

The rest-pause that refreshes
Welcome in peace...
more welcome in war work

MANAGERS and personnel directors will tell you that regular rest-pauses plus the refreshment of ice-cold Coca-Cola increase contentment in their plants. Thus production is increased. A pause for Coca-Cola is a little thing in itself, but one of the little things that brighten a busy day.

You might think it strange that workers have such a welcome for a 5¢ soft drink. But Coca-Cola has something all its own in goodness. Made with a finished art, its taste always pleases. More than just quenching thirst, it brings a happy after-sense of complete refreshment. The only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola, itself.

The best is always the better buy!

A breathing spell, a rest-pause and ice-cold Coca-Cola. Contentment comes when you connect with a Coke.

Minn., after a daring jail break in Wyoming, May 17.

Known as Texas Bad Man

Baird, called in Minnesota the Texas bad man, had a record of cattle rustling and automobile thefts. He usually wore high-heel boots and a big hat.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation record shows he was arrested at Bay City in 1936 and given a two-year suspended sentence for cattle theft. He was next in trouble at Marlin in May, 1938, receiving five years for cattle theft. In February, 1942, he was arrested at Corpus Christi in possession of an automobile stolen in Hope, Ark. He was given ten years for assault to murder, five years each for automobile theft, burglary and theft by bailee, two five-year sentences for theft and two ten-year sentences for cattle theft.

Baird escaped the Live Oak County jail at George West, June 23, 1942. He was recaptured at Douglas, Wyo., May 17, 1943. He escaped jail there, stole an automobile in his getaway and engaged in a gun battle with officers. When he abandoned his car, he stole two horses, and the next day stole another automobile.

After his arrest at Rochester, Minn., he was taken to Minneapolis. When he made his train escape near Royse City he was being taken to San Antonio to stand trial for transporting a stolen car from Alexandria, La., to Waco.

The FBI record shows there are also charges pending against Baird of harboring a fugitive and of selective service act violations.

Deputy Marshal E. R. Goss was driving his automobile from Greenville to Dallas and the Katy train from which Baird escaped passed the deputy on the trip. Goss didn't know of the escape until he reached the Dallas office.

Baird's escape was bad luck for Deputy Littell, who will lose thirty days' pay, his expenses on the trip to date and will have to pay his own way back to Minneapolis, under a new federal law thus penalizing federal officers from whom prisoners escape.

Baird is described as 6 feet 2 1/2 inches tall, weighing about 150 pounds being very slender. When he escaped he had on tan trousers and a blue striped shirt. He wore no hat nor coat.

Newton Baird was born in Caneron. When he was arrested in Rochester, Minn., many here recalled his youthful days in Milam county.

Yanks Send Back Many Souvenirs From War Zones

Silk Gowns From India, Jap Flags and Armor Among Prized Gifts.

WASHINGTON.—Souvenirs are beginning to pour home from the war's many fronts. Veteran postal authorities, recalling the flood of mementos that rolled back from England and France during World War I are bracing themselves for an even greater deluge this time.

What with a much larger army and navy by far than we had in 1917-18, the torrent is expected to be enormous when it reaches its peak. This time the boys have virtually the entire globe to pick from, or will have when victory is achieved.

First souvenirs and trophies came from the Philippine campaign, then from the strange lands of the southwest Pacific.

When the AEF descended on North Africa, however, the troops discovered that the Germans and Italians virtually had stripped the French colonies of valuables. But enough trinkets, jewelry, hand-woven garments remained to give the native merchants a land office business.

Gifts Often Puzzle.

In India the pickings are much more varied and attractive than in North Africa. U. S. soldiers there are buying all sorts of souvenirs, some of which are specially produced for the tourist trade.

A popular gift to send the girl friend is a native silk gown. Often the garment is boldly decorated with famous sights of the country, like the Taj Mahal or the vice-regal palace at New Delhi with appropriate labels.

Jewelry—necklaces, bangles, anklets and rings—are the stock in trade of countless Indian bazaars and these find their way to our soldiers for shipment home. Native knives, coins, amulets also are collected.

Sometimes the recipients back home are puzzled by the objects their menfolk send. The Smithsonian Institute here, the Field Museum in Chicago, the American Museum of Natural History in New York frequently are called on these days to identify unfamiliar objects from the other side of the world.

Real War Trophies.

From the South Pacific war areas, the first souvenirs were really war trophies. Things like Samurai swords captured from Japanese officers, Jap battle flags and other articles of the enemy's military equipment.

Best known of these was the sword taken from a Jap officer on Bataan and sent by General MacArthur to President Roosevelt through Francis B. Sayre, returning high commissioner to the Philippines.

Now the bulk of the mementos from South Pacific consist of native spearheads with needle-like points, odd shell ornaments, war marks, gorgeously beplumed head-dresses and wide brass and silver armbands.

Coconuts, plentiful in that region, are coming in by the hundreds, many of them interestingly carved. Geologically minded soldiers send specimens of rock formation foreign to their home neighborhoods.

On the whole, troops will garner as mementos any objects likely to catch the eye of boys far from accustomed surroundings.

Laboratories Speeding War Devices to Front

ROCHESTER.—Modern science provides unprecedented speed in transition of war devices from laboratory to battle front, Dr. Lee A. Dubridge, head of the radiation laboratory of the National Defense Research committee, said in an interview here recently.

Dr. Dubridge, on loan from the University of Rochester to the government for the duration of the war, disclosed that American armed forces are using in conflict scientific apparatus developed since outbreak of hostilities. "Swift results," he asserted, "are in sharp contrast to sluggish research of previous wars."

At the same time, Dr. Dubridge, whose headquarters are at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, cited a desperate shortage of technically trained men and women in research and in war engineering production. He called attention to the war-training courses in mathematics and fundamental sciences being introduced by colleges and urged enrollment of young men and women to prepare for war service.

Yankee Sailor Makes a Suit for Wife; It's Cute

KANSAS CITY.—Join the navy—and make your wife the cutest suit!

A signalman, first class, in Australian waters, Stanley Levitt wrote his wife he was sending her a suit. "I was skeptical," she admitted, although she knew he'd learned to run sewing machines as part of his naval training.

Then the suit arrived, made over from navy blues.

"Look, the length is perfect!" Mrs. Levitt exclaimed. "The waist fit is perfect! And aren't the pockets darling?"

BIG VICTORY SCORED IN SOUTH PACIFIC

The South Pacific got the spot light in the war Thursday as the United States Navy Department in Washington announced that 77 Japanese planes has been shot down in a single fierce engagement off the rim of Australia within the last 48 hours.

on to ultimate victory.

The Americans lost 6 planes. In Tokyo the Japanese Premier, Tojo, painted a gloomy picture of the progress of the war but declared his fidelity to the Germans and the Italians, saying the Japs will fight onto ultimate victory.

Tojo said that the mainland of Japan will be subjected to attacks.

The Royal Air Force lost 14 bombers last night in a new raid on Cologne.

At the same time it was said that 3 Axis ships were sunk off the coast of Sicily.

The Axis was broadcasting claims that Axis planes were constantly blasting ship concentrations off the Pantelleria waters. There was no confirmation from any Allied source.

Algerian news sources which in times past have not been too reliable, said the Turkish envoy to the government at Vichy had been recalled and that rupture of relations with the Axis was expected. London doubted the report and said it was exaggerated.

Low spirited Italians are being withdrawn from Sicily and Sardinia. This is certain evidence that Italy is to surrender. If no defense is made of the island there was little prospect the country would defend the mainland. Our only hope of victory is for the Italians to stand up and fight. Then we'll beat them into a pulp and win the war.

Commentators were not certain that things were quite alright on the Russian front. There was no activity whatever. Germany has been broadcasting reports that peace is in the making with Russia. A dispatch in a Swiss newspaper from Germany said Dr. Goebbels has said Russia cannot be beaten but that disagreement has prevented peace. Rumania is also reported to have made overtures. The Allied countries believe these reports are pure propaganda.

and designed to bring about distrust of Russia.

The invasion is not yet under way.

MEULHEIM BLASTED BY THE ROYAL AIR FORCE

One of the major bombing raids of the war occurred Tuesday in Meulheim in Germany.

The British Air Command said 35 bombers were lost in the raid. This was taken to indicate the attack was on a scale commensurate with recent major air offensives over the Ruhr and industrial Germany.

Aside from the air war there was little activity anywhere on the war fronts.

Activity in the air flared up on the Russian front.

Six towns in Southern Italy were blasted by American bombers flying in from their North African bases. Italy was getting the pastings promised. Italian citizens have been warned to keep away from the war plants and millions of them are flocking to Rome for safety.

All was quiet in the riot areas and strike centers of the country. John L. Lewis ordered his miners back to work late Tuesday. The truce will expire on October 31. At that time another strike will be called. President Roosevelt is expected to veto the bill passed by Congress outlawing strikes in government seized plants.

E. B. Martin of Burlington was in Cameron Tuesday on business. While here he renewed his subscription to the Herald for another year.

Mrs. John Bohac and son of Granger visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zarosky, Sr., over the week end.

20 NEGROES SLAIN IN RACIAL WAR MONDAY

Twenty-three are dead and 500 injured in the Detroit race war, latest reports Tuesday disclosed as United States Army units restored quiet to the city under orders of the President.

Of the dead 20 are negroes and 3 are white, one a doctor who was attacked by a mob of negroes and beaten so badly he died in a hospital.

Indications at noon Tuesday were that all was quiet in the city. All places of amusement were closed, the race track and the baseball stadium. Both white and negro leaders appealed for a cessation of the fighting.

A revised account of the origin of the trouble said the rioting began when a fist fight broke out in the city Sunday night. Tuesday it was said that the trouble has been brewing for some time. There has been long standing racial differences of a nature to produce trouble.

Investigations were under way to determine responsibility for the trouble and also to ascertain the effects on war production.

Hundreds of arrests have been made.

Nothing quite so well distracts attention from the war as a fight at home. Obligations abroad call for an invasion to aid Russia, now in her third year of the war against Germany.

There was no indication Tuesday the Allies were any closer to an invasion than 6 months ago.

American 4 motored bombers visited the Ruhr valley in a daylight raid Tuesday.

Russia has called upon England and America to invade Europe. The Reds have asked this some four or five times. There were some indications Italy will not be invaded. Politically such a by-pass might be important. If attacked too much the Italians might get mad and refuse to assimilate all the benefits given in the post war treaties.

In the past the enemy looked as good as a friend when the war was over.

Regular meeting of the Order Eastern Star was held Tuesday evening at the Masonic Hall with the newly installed Worthy Matron, Mrs. Brock, presiding. Reports were made by the outgoing Worthy Matron, and also by the Secretary, Mrs. Crump and Mrs. Nadine Sapp, respectively. Light refreshments were served following the meeting.

Warning Against Hot Water Method Canning Vegetables

A recent warning by Dr. Asa C. Chandler, professor of biology at Rice Institute, Houston, against the hot water method of canning non-acid vegetables gives strength to the many warnings Extension Service workers have issued about hot water bath canning of non-acid vegetables.

Dr. Chandler says "A poison so powerful that a teaspoonful is enough to kill 40,000 guinea pigs is not a good thing to take chances with.

Dr. Chandler believes the chances for accidents are too great to be worth the risk if people undertake to can non-acid vegetables or meats by the boiling water bath method. "Outbreaks of botulism will almost certainly occur," he says. "It is like having rattlesnakes on your golf course. You may keep your ball on the fairways and treat the rattlesnake with impunity, but sooner or later somebody a little less careful will suffer. By comparison (with botulism) rattlesnake venom is only mildly poisonous."

Bacteria that cause botulism grow in non-acid vegetables when strictly protected from air. Dr. Chandler says there is on case on record where the spores survived heating and germinated after 22 months. The poison produced is so deadly that a person has been known to die after eating one piece of a string bean.

In Milam County there are canning centers at Cameron, Rockdale, Milano and Thorndale, with others approved for rural communities, so that no one need take the risk of canning non-acid foods in the hot water bath.

If a pressure cooker for such canning is not available, the Extension Service of A & M College recommends that such foods be preserved by some other method than canning. Recommended methods are drying, storing and brining.

Helen Joyce died in the Newton Memorial Hospital after an illness of several days. Death came at 11:30 p. m. Saturday, June 19, 1943.

Pruning Plants Now For Spring Growth Advised Here

Pruning should include the removal of many plants to form a crop of fruit and flowers next spring.

Pruning should include the removal of dead or diseased limbs and cutting back—not too heavily—other branches and limbs. This is the advice of Sadie Hatfield of the A & M College Extension Service.

Miss Hatfield also advises root pruning at this time. This is done by cutting off a portion of the roots by sinking a sharp spade into the ground.

After pruning, plants should be given a reasonable amount of water and fertilizer.

The pruned off branches can be used as cuttings for rooting. Wood about the size of a pencil is best. Remove all leaves close to the stem except two at the top. Put about three fourths of the cutting under ground and provide plenty of water and some shade.

BOMBERS BLASTING FRINGES OF EUROPE

Speculation boiled up in the near east, in Africa and in the Axis countries Friday as United Nations airmen gave the edges of Hitler's puppet empire the worst pasting in recent weeks.

Sicily, Sardinia, Naples, Cypress, all were heavily bombed as North Africa based aircraft went into action unopposed.

The airmen reported a big fire in central Rome. The cause of the fire was not determined. The city has not been bombed and will not be bombed for political reasons.

Speculation took a turn Friday to focus attention on Turkey again and the Balkans. Some are now saying that Italy will be bypassed and the thrust be made in the Balkans. Italy must not be made to suffer. She is now in the position of a recalcitrant child on a stable roof with the parents begging him to come down lest he get hurt.

Simultaneous attack by Russia when and if the Allied invasion comes may have been signaled with the sudden flare up of artillery fire on the Eastern Front.

Some of the commentators were still of the opinion that the United States and Britain would attempt an invasion this year. Others feel that the air war will continue as it is and this may be forecast by the announcement in Washington that fathers may never be called and forces now under arms will be made more aggressive.

A small appropriation of 71 and a half billion dollars was announced Friday. Congress must be slipping.

Flier Rides Raft Through Jungle to Get Help for Pals

Airmen, Hurt in Crash of Amphibian, Fight Off Carnivorous Fish.

BOGOTA, COLOMBIA.—The rescue of four United States fliers from Amazon jungles after one of them, taking a million-to-one chance, had drifted down the turbulent Caqueta river on a flimsy raft to summon help, has just been disclosed.

The man who went down the river was Pvt. A. C. McDavid, a Texan, who "won" the toss of a coin and the dubious privilege of boarding the raft. His success is regarded as little short of miraculous, for crocodiles and numerous other terrors of the jungles beset him and night overtook him before he sighted the lights of a settlement.

The men were flying an amphibian from Bogota to a point in the Amazon basin when they were forced down in the Caqueta, a tributary of the Amazon. At the place where their plane sank, the waters are so swift that native swimmers avoid the river.

Defy Crocodiles.

Private McDavid's companions were Lieutenants W. S. Briggs and N. W. Mann and Sergt. E. M. Ondrej, also a Texan. Private McDavid had no time to don a lifebelt and was soon in difficulties. Lieutenant Briggs had a gashed arm and a face wound, but gave his belt to Private McDavid.

For two hours the men battled the current before they reached an island as crocodiles began to close in on them. Lieutenant Briggs also was attacked, as they neared land, by a school of "caribes," tiny fish that become aroused at the sight of blood and are so vicious that they will devour a man in a short time. Lieutenant Briggs was forced to keep his wounded arm out of the water, although this, too, was dangerous, because snapping fish attacked it.

With their shoes and most of their clothes gone, the men got ashore. Lieutenant Mann, like Lieutenant Briggs, had been injured in the landing. Among the four, they had one cigarette lighter, a penknife and a few cigarettes, which Lieutenant Mann had kept in a waterproof bag.

Chosen by Toss of Coin.

Their situation seemed hopeless and was not brightened when they saw the tracks of a jungle cat on the island beach. They were in a vast expanse of jungle, where there was slight hope of being spotted from the air or reached by land. A raft was their only chance. They cut vines laboriously with the knife, gathered branches together, constructed the raft and placed two of the lifejackets on top to give it greater buoyancy.

The coin was tossed and Private McDavid started out about 4 p. m. The raft turned madly in whirlpools, scraped rocks, slowed in still water, tilted when one of the lifebelts was carried away, but still went on. A crocodile tried to nose it over. Private McDavid held on.

Darkness came and the raft still drifted. About 11 o'clock Private McDavid saw a light on the right bank and began yelling. Dogs started to bark.

"Just as I was losing hope," Private McDavid said, "a canoe manned by Colombian army officers and men came along and picked me up. I learned that they were from the garrison of La Pedrera, where I had first seen the light."

The Colombians rescued the other fliers the next day.

Boy, 13, Finds $13,901, Turns It Over to Police

NEW YORK.—Frank Kominski, a 13-year-old freckle-faced son of an unemployed chef, nonchalantly walked into a police station after school and handed over $13,901.21 in cash which he found outside a junk shop.

Frank was on his way to school with two classmates when he spotted a shoe box. Inside he found a paper bag and within that a tobacco tin with more money than his father would have made in 14 years at his last job—one at $18 a week.

"Let's go halves!" a classmate suggested. But Frank stuffed the money in his pocket and went to school, sitting in classrooms all afternoon with a fortune in his jeans. When he got home he asked his father what to do. "Take it to the police," counseled John Kominski.

So Frank stuffed it in his pocket again, went to school with it, and after school appeared at the police station. Police said it will be his if no one claims it within six months.

Kidnap Cashier of Store,

Escape With $14,000 Loot

TRENTON, N. J.—Four armed men kidnaped the cashier of the giant Tiger food store here recently, forced him to go with them to the store and open the safe, and then escaped with $14,000, the police revealed.

The cashier, Anthony Ianni, police said, was parking his car outside his home, when two of the bandits approached him. Pointing a pistol at him, one of the men forced him into their car, police said, and drove him to the food store, where they met the two other accomplices.

COAL MINERS ARE OUT AND STRIKE COMPLETE

President Roosevelt's Frankenstein children, the CIO United Mine Workers, will probably be given an E for excellence.

It appeared, based on reports at noon Monday, the miners had walked out 100 per cent thus making a good job of their legal absenteeism from work. United Mine Workers are politically important and therefore among the select groups who can strike three times in two months.

The walkout became complete at noon as the pits in Alabama, Pennsylvania and West Virginia were deserted. The miners said they would return to work for the government but would not work for the mine owners.

Whether the President would regard this an opportunity, of course could not be ascertained. He took over the mines and in his appeal said they should not strike against the government. Well, they haven't done right by the President three times now. If the miners will agree to work for the government and the owners are pushed out of the picture, Congress could appropriate the money to pay them $20 per day as they have done shipyard workers and others all over the nation.

Whatever the outcome of the strike, it was universal Monday.

Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes, canceled a proposed trip to Cleveland to a Governor's conference. He was expected to make some kind of move in the case.

On the desk of the President is the anti-strike law passed by the Congress. Unless vetoed by the President by next Friday it will become a law. Odds were heavy that he would not allow it to become a law and that would be a victory for Labor.

Within 24 hours production will be affected from loss of coal.

At is looked from the corn stalks Monday the Administration was doing everything possible to win the war without the loss of a vote.

War Fades Out In Stalemate; Front In Washington Bloody

The war was being fought by radio Monday as commentators sought to convince the people hostilities are going on.

The overplayed jitters theory cropped up again. This time it concerned an Axis broadcast of ship and troop concentrations in the Mediterranean.

Over in the South Pacific a few bombers managed to take a slap at the Japs, but outside this there was no war.

The Washington front was bloody, 6 dead in Detroit and 530 thousand miners out on strike tying up the nation's war industries.

Rumors that Italy had asked for peace has finally been denied.

CONOLEY HOMECOMING JUNE 27

Committees were appointed some weeks ago to plan for the eighth Conoley Homecoming, Sunday June 27th. The welcome address at 10:00 a. m. will start the all-day program and a basket lunch will be served at noon on tables built under the trees.

Visitors are asked to bring well filled baskets. The afternoon will be devoted to speeches, readings and a song festival.

WEST COAST SHIPYARDS ASKING FOR EMPLOYEES

The United States Civil Service Commission Representative Stanley F. Kenneth, stationed at Waco, at the U. S. Employment Service, announced that the Commission is intensifying its drive for employees for the West Coast Shipyards.

Kenneth advises that this drive will continue through June 29, 1943, with a slight possibility of being extended.

The place where these vacancies exist are all Federal Shipyards, namely the Mare Island Navy Yard, Vallejo, California, Hunter's Point Dry Docks, San Francisco, Puget Sound Navy Yard, Bremerton, Washington, and the U. S. Naval Terminal Dry Docks, San Pedro, Calif.

Senior Laborers are being paid 88 cents per hour, helpers 89 cents per hour and journeyman are paid wages ranging from $1.14 to $1.22 per hour. All these positions pay time and one half for overtime.

Transportation is being paid by the Civil Service Commission. If you are employed, the representative can reserve you quarters for yourself or your family in dormitories or family quarters located on the reservation. The cost of quarters is very reasonable, also includes the cost of hospitalization and medical service in event of illness. Cafeterias are located near the dormitories with average food prices. Recreational facilities are also provided. Each employee receives a war service indefinite appointment and derives all the Benefits of a civil service appointment, which includes 26 days annual leave a year, also sick leave.

At the Puget Sound Navy Yard, women are being employed as mechanic learners at 58 cents per hour, therefore a man and his wife can work at the same establishment.

There is an urgent need for these workers, hence all people should seriously consider these positions.

The commission also announces that people with no experience whatsoever can be employed as mechanic learners at a salary of $121.64 per month, at the Ogden Air Depot, Ogden, Utah. Persons appointed will learn an aircraft trade in a 90 day training school and then be promoted to a general mechanic helper position at a basic pay of $125 per month plus 21 per cent overtime. If you are at least 16 years of age, an American citizen, and can pass the aptitude test given, you can qualify. For further information to all these recruiting programs, you are urged to contact the U. S. Employment Service, Waco, Temple or Bryan, at once.

The Golden Text is: "Arise, shine; for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee" (Isaiah 60:1.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children; . . . Proving what is acceptable unto the Lord." (Ephesians 6:1, 10.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "It is possible,—yea, it is the duty and privilege of every child, man, and woman,—to follow in some degree the example of the Master by the demonstration of Truth and Life, of health and holiness" (page 37.)

Rock That Grows Is Sent to Herald; Was Found In San Saba

A rock that grows, found in the bed of the Lampassas River by Mrs. Ada Pratt of Hoyte, has been brought to The Herald.

Incredible as the story seems Mrs. Pratt vouches for its truth and others also vouch for it.

The rock, now a flint appearing boulder has a hole in it. When the rock was picked up 12 years ago the hole was about the size of a match, said Mrs. Pratt. Now it is large enough to stick a finger through. When found, says Mrs. Pratt, the rock was about the size of a silver dollar but is as large as a fist now. She found the rock 12 years ago.

A fossil formation believed to be lime from the shell of pre-historic marine life, was also found in the river by Mrs. Pratt and this is also on display here.

MESSENGERS FLOWN TO NORTH ALGERIA

Italy, battered out of North Africa and thrown back upon her mainland which is now the target for the mounting strength of Allied bombers, was reported Saturday to have asked for peace.

The report, which was not confirmed, was broadcast from London. It was relayed from Switzerland and the broadcast said peace envoys whose names were given, had been flown out of Italy for Algeria in North Africa to treat with the Allied commanders.

While the Swiss report was without confirmation, a bid for separate peace would not be surprising coming from Italy.

Additional news said that Germany had decided to abandon Italy to her own defense, that as a partner in the European end of the Axis powers the Italians were not worth defending and besides Germany will have now to look after her own country.

If this be true it follows as a natural impulse of the Germans to abandon when expediency seems best. If abandoned by Germany the Italians will be beaten within a few weeks, provided there is a large scale thrust.

Early Saturday morning the Italian cabinet met to formulate a number of decrees by Mussolini.

The report concerning Italian collapse came at a time when invasion hopes were high and amid speculation about a large scale offensive in Burma to regain that territory from Japan.

General Wavell has retired and will be displaced by another Allied commander. Speculation was that Gen. Joe Stilwell might succeed to that post as Wavell became Viceroy of India.

The air war was undiminished and the destruction of German industries was said to have vitally affected German production and increased chances of success materially in the immediate projection of plans for invasion.

Air power is being built up in England and the coast of France may yet feel an Allied landing blow.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

WITH THE BAPTIST

We have just closed a successful Daily Vacation Bible School. It was not the greatest, but under war conditions, it was a good school. We had 110 enrolled and five conversions.

The Knights of Pythias swelled our morning service to a good congregation. We were so glad to have about 30 of these men from a great organization.

Sunday night, the Pastor preached on "Can the Departed Dead Speak to Those on Earth?" and following that showed picture "The Payoff" at the Tabernacle. The offering taken amounted to $27. Bro. Frisby gave us a real backing and for this, we are grateful.

Saturday night the picture is to be shown at the Lilac Baptist Church at 8:30. All in that vicinity are urged to be present.

Beginning Sunday night, June 27, we are having a revival meeting in Batte Town. It will continue through July 4. We will conduct revival services each night at 8:30. Sermons you will delight to hear are: "The Gates of Pearl," "Ruin, Rage, and Repentance," "How One Died for All," "How A Lost Sheep Got Home," "Accountability to God," and "The Sufficiency of the Lord Jesus Christ."

Meeting is held in heart of Batte Town at corner of Country Club Drive and Fannin Ave. It's outdoor. Come and help in singing of the great gospel songs.

Sunday School 9:45. Sermon at 11:00 "God's Cure for War Nerves," Matt. 6:24-34. All who have loved ones in service branches of the country are especially invited to be present.

Chicken Supper At Marak Church Sunday

A chicken supper will be held at Marak church Sunday, June 27th beginning in the late afternoon.

The proceeds from the supper will go to the Parish for such uses as the good work there directs. The public is cordially invited.
